Scottish Fold Cat Apr 12 2021 The Scottish Fold is a medium-sized feline with a smaller form. Females will in general be around 6 to 9 pounds in weight, while guys will in general be around 9 to 13 pounds. After their ears, the principal thing you will see about a Scottish Fold is their propensity for presenting in odd positions-level out on the floor like a little frog, sitting up for all the world as though they were a meerkat on a nature program, or lying on their back, paws open to question. Also, despite the fact that you may expect that their ears are less portable than those of different felines, such isn't the situation. Scottish Folds utilize those ears to impart adequately, including remarks in a tranquil, cheerful voice when important. This is a shrewd, tolerably dynamic feline. The Scottish Fold appreciates secret toys that test their dexterity and astound toys that challenge their knowledge.
